Adjective Clauses (Relative Clauses)

- An adjective clause is a group of words that work together to describe a noun or pronoun in a sentence.
- It functions like an adjective, providing more information about the noun or pronoun.

LET'S LEARN TOGETHER

- Adjective clauses are formed by using a relative pronoun (such as "who," "whom," "whose," "that," or "which") to connect two clauses together.

- Adjective clauses depend on other clauses in a sentence to express a complete thought, and that's why they are referred to as dependent clauses.
